

APRA-NW Elections | June 10 – June 19, 2019

Board Candidates

Vote for one candidate per position. All positions are two years unless otherwise noted.

Vice-President/Treasurer (2019-2021)

Lindsay Evans, University of Washington, Seattle, WA

Having served as Vice President/Treasurer for the past two years, I am well-versed in the finances and fiscal management of Apra-NW, and am confident in my ability to continue in this role for another term. During my time as VP/Treasurer, I have successfully created an annual budget, tracked expenditures and income, and replenished our savings to lay a strong foundation for the future. I would be proud to further contribute to the near and long-term success of our chapter and it's ability to provide opportunities for education, development, mentoring and networking.

Secretary (2019-2021)

Amelia Hooper, University of Puget Sound, Tacoma, WA

I've been in the field of prospect research for over seven years and was promoted to my current role as associate director of research at the University of Puget Sound this past September. I strongly believe in a collaborative approach to prospect development work and know that this approach would serve me well in the new venture of serving on a professional board. I am a thorough note-taker in meetings and should be able to quickly pick up the expected style for board minutes and meeting agendas. I welcome the opportunity to help represent Tacoma and the South Sound as a part of the Apra-NW board!

Programming Director (2019-2021)

Matthew Smith, Oregon State University Foundation, Corvallis, OR

Over the past 8 years I have worked in a number of roles within philanthropy, including research, prospect management, and data analytics in both higher education and healthcare. Because of this background I have been exposed to various types of educational events and discussions in a number of different formats.

As the programming director I hope to bring some of these different types of educational formats to the APRA-NW chapter and find new ways of bringing the chapter together for events and discussions even when members are spread across the region. Additionally, I believe there is an opportunity to provide educational offerings from resources outside of philanthropy - especially in the area of data analytics - and I hope to take advantage of those opportunities in an attempt to expand the types of learning topics offered to chapter members. I have also participated in chapter events as both a participant and as a speaker in my former APRA-MD chapter so I have an understanding of what types of resources other chapters have used for their own educational events.

Having just moved from Baltimore, Maryland, to Oregon to work for the Oregon State University Foundation, I am eager to get involved with the local APRA chapter, and would be very excited to help bring new educational activities and small events to the APRA-NW chapter.

Conference Director (2019-2020 – 1 year term)

Jason Roesler, Washington State University, Pullman, WA

I currently serve as the Director of Prospect Research and Management for the Washington State University Foundation. I have previously served on the APRA NW Board as the Programming Director and have experience putting on conferences. I was involved with the 2017 APRA NW Conference in Spokane and I feel like I have the requisite skills set and knowledge of the Spokane community to make this a successful conference.
